

AG PRODUCERS

At a Glance

- 50+ years experience
- Serve more than 1,900 farmers, ranchers and other agricultural producers

Real Challenges

Ag producers today face ever-increasing challenges. While you're busy managing fluctuating fuel and fertilizer costs, it can be daunting to stay abreast of legislative changes affecting agriculture, or to think about a succession plan for your farm. However, the decisions you make today often have lasting effects on your operation.

Our Approach to Service

Eide Bailly takes a comprehensive approach to serving ag producers, not only helping with today's needs, but also proactively identifying and addressing future issues. We help farmers align their Farm Service Agency (FSA), tax and business plans to avoid surprises. We also monitor laws and regulations to help you maximize credits and incentives. By looking at the "big picture," we coordinate competing needs, such as FSA, tax, general business, succession and wealth management, to help position you for success.

Why Choose Eide Bailly

Our Firm has a dedicated team of professionals who focus exclusively on ag producers. Many of our team members have an agricultural background, so we understand your business and have a passion to help you succeed—because we've been there, too.

As a client, you'll receive year-round, attentive service adjusted to meet your seasonal needs. Clients appreciate working closely with their local Eide Bailly service team, including members of our partner group, and building trusting relationships that last for generations. These strong business relationships give us valuable insights into your operations which, in turn, allow us to deliver effective solutions.
