Understanding Your Challenges

No matter their size, government entities face the ongoing challenge of balancing tight budgets in an unpredictable economy. We understand the tough choices you need to make when revenue sources fail to match budgeted levels, while still providing the high level of resources expected by constituents. At Eide Bailly, our government team will work with you to fully understanding your unique challenges, to help you do more with fewer resources.

A Client-Focused Approach to Service

We know that each entity has its own unique circumstances, depending on your operating environment. Therefore, no two clients are treated alike. Our service approach is centered on collaborative communication throughout the year, including periodic meetings with your management to ensure you stay informed. Additionally, our partners and senior level professionals are highly accessible throughout the year. They do not delegate all tasks to staff, but rather stay involved on-site during fieldwork and throughout the year.

Why Choose Eide Bailly

The governmental sector is one of the largest industries we serve, therefore, we have a dedicated team with industry-specific knowledge you can rely on. Our team members are engaged in the industry and well-positioned in organizations associated with governmental entities. Because our professionals hold various leadership roles in the GFOA and AICPA at both national and local levels, including Government Audit Quality Center members, we are able to provide input into governmental accounting issues. In addition, every team member receives ongoing training to stay current on issues affecting the government industry.

When you work with Eide Bailly, you'll work with competent and experienced professionals who understand the government industry and are passionate about their work—and your success.
